Se Captain Daniel Smith has a new plan of Honolulu Harbor from the bar inwards, copied from surveys made by the navigating officer of the Portsmouth. It is the most complete chart of this barbor that has ever been executed, and gives the depth of water for every twenty five feet. It is drawn on a scale of 2500 feet to one foot.

Several interesting reports received from ships arrived the past week will be found in our marine column. The Syren appears to have had a hard time getting around Cape Horn, and a number List of Waxleso Vessers Annivers at Hoxolulu, of ships were seen crippled by the storm, with spars and ship gear floating around in the water. She was in sight of Hawali, seven days before entering of the transfer port.

MONS. LEMONNEYBR. - A San Francisco paper has the following incident relating to this gentleman, who we are glad to learn received no serious harm during the disaster to the Costa Rice; "Monsicur omeyer, French Consul at Honolulu, was a passenger on board. He is paralyzed, and when about to go into a boat from the steamer, held in his hand a small casket containing $1,500 worth of diamonds. This was too unhandy for him to carry, 1000 1000 E20 420 E20 7000 and he threw the casket with the diamonds into his stateroom. The carket on being sent for yesterday afternoon, was found with the lid off, and the dismonds undisturbed."

A WHALEMAN'S RECEION took place last evening at the residence of Peter C. Jones, Esq., where were gathered nearly all the shipmasters in port, some o whom were accompanied with their wives. Mr. Berger's band was in attendance, and rehearsed some of the familiar tunes which stir a sallor's as well as a landsman's soul. During the evening, refreshmenta were served up, accompanied with ice cream so hard as to remind our Arctic friends of the lecblocks they sought to steer clear of. At the close of the pleasant evening's reunion, the whole comocceded in carriages, accompanied with the band, which occupied an omnibus, to the Hotel to serenade and pay their respects to a brother whale man, who had just returned from the Aretle with a good catch to find a better one awaiting him in port. Captain Fraser gallantly answered the call of his brother shipmesters, and they will long remember the occasion with the most pleasurable feelings as one of the pleasantest episodes in their lives. Long live brother Fraser and his bride. May they live to enjoy every happiness this world can afford is the wish of his brother shipmasters.

Replies to the Arithmetical Problem. Mn. Epiron: - In perusing some of the solution which appeared in the Advertiser of the 15th instant, I was somewhat amused with the process and answers given by both "Ajax" and "F" on that much vexed problem as to what is the product of £19 19s. 1155d, by £19 19s, 1155d. I secept the statement made by "Ajax" and "F" that the above amount is one farthing less than £20, but the conclusion to which they arrive is far from being correct. No one will deny that I furthing is 1 of a L.

Consequently £19 19s. 115/d. is equal to £20-1 of a £. Now, if I can give you the product of $(£20-\frac{1}{2}\frac{1}{6}\frac{1}{6}E)$ $(£20-\frac{1}{2}\frac{1}{6}E)$, it must be the same as the product of (£19 19s. 11%d.) (£19 19s. 11%d.) Apidy, now, the algebraic rule for the sou binomial to $(£20-\frac{1}{9.5}£)$, bearing in mind the minus sign between the first and second terms, and we have the (£20-31,£)2-£400-452,£+3112,600£, JOHN FREDERICK KENYON, which, reduced, gives 35 as 5 15 11 of £, or £399  2 2 0 1. Reduce this still turther, and we have £399 19a. 2d. 0. 1. f., which is the only correct answer to the said problem, and not at all like the answers furnished by "Ajag" and "F" in the Puc. Com. Advertiser by somewhat the same process.
